

VETERINARIAN

Career of the Week

Interested in a bow-WOW career?

Veterinarians get to work with animals every day. Like doctors who treat humans, vets diagnose and treat diseases, repair injuries, and perform surgeries.

Diagnosing problems can be trickier for veterinarians though. These patients cannot talk to tell the doctor where it hurts! Like other doctors, vets need lots of training including a bachelor's degree and vet school.

Vet technicians assist veterinarians in caring for animals. An associate degree prepares vet techs for this type of work. Job outlook is good for future vets!
